

Graduates may seek employment in the following professional areas:

- Fashion culture and fashion communications, as:
 - - creative director
 - - communication and branding supervisor
 - - press manager and social media coordinator
 - - Image Consultant
 - - Events and exhibitions curator

- - Visual Merchandising Manager

Job opportunities are related to public and private institutions, companies, foundations, publishing groups and web companies related to Fashion Culture; advertising and event management companies; news and communication agencies, publishing companies, marketing companies; advice operational management for museums, foundations, galleries, libraries, archives etc.

- Trend setting and fashion creation, such as:
 - - creative director
 - - consultant in strategic planning for public and private institutions
 - - research and scouting for new trends,
 - - evaluation and definition of business plans
 - - Fashion Supervisor.

-

Job opportunities are related to textile and clothing companies; consulting firms, marketing agencies and research institutions; consulting firms, specialized marketing agencies and research institutions in the evaluation of business plans.